Today, you will be picked up early morning and then transferred to Bangkok's Buddhist temples are world-famous and this tour takes us to three of the most unusual ones that this city has to offer. We start at the ornate Wat Trimitr which is situated at the end of buzzing Chinatown's Yaowarat Road, and also near Hua Lampong train station. This temple is home to a vast invaluable Golden Buddha that weighs five-and-half tons adding to this remarkable site. Next is the largest temple complex in Bangkok, Wat Po, which has an impressive reclining Buddha that is 46 meters in length as well as ornate chedis. No temple tour is complete without a visit to the gleaming Grand Palace which is one of the most beautiful examples of a traditional Siamese Court. Previously the residence of royalty, there are several different venues for different occasions including the Funeral Palace, the Reception

Palace, the Throne Hall, the Coronation Hall, the Royal Guest House, and the famed Emerald Buddha Temple. After the tour back to the hotel.

Day 3

Breakfast at the hotel, after we will transferred to Thailand's floating markets hold cultural significance in the country with many tourists wanting to experience this tradition. Damnoen Saduak is dubbed the 'real floating market' and is around 110 km west of Bangkok. A trip to this Thai phenomenon is like traveling back to the ancient times of the Siam Kingdom where colorfully clad merchants paddle along the narrow canals. Here we witness the traditional ways of trading fruit, vegetables, and other small items from small boats. There are also traditional Thai houses to view and we learn how boats are a vital mode of transport for locals in their everyday lives. This tour includes a visit to the famed Maeklong Railway where stalls are erected trackside and hastily moved as trains arrive.

Bangkok's official center point was once in the vicinity of the Grand Palace and this tour takes us back to Bangkok during the reign of King Rama IV. We visit the first road built in Bangkok to facilitate expatriates new to the city. We then drive and walk further along Charoen Krung, Bamrungmuang and Fueng Nakorn are all filled with history, especially of early trade that led to abundant businesses being set up in these areas. Our first stop is at Wat Soaked (Golden Mount) which gives us a panoramic view across Old Bangkok. Next, we continue by tuk-tuk to visit Baan Bart, the original Khmer community that is known for making alms bowls used by monks. We then walk to Wat Suthat, the Giant Swing, and Wat Rajbophit with its beautiful temple hall decorated with Benjarong wares. Our last stop is Suan Pakkad Palace Museum, which is the former private residence of their Royal Highnesses Prince and Princess Chumbhot of Nagara Svarga. Lunch is at a local restaurant.

Day 7

Day at leisure to relax and pursue independent activities

Optional Tour Private Half Day Jai Yen Yen | Rum Factory

The price per person is $139.00

Phuket has many hidden spots awaiting discovery and we do this exploration in a relaxed and fun- way. Our visits include heading up to the second largest hill on the island to admire some of the most stunning sunsets seen in the country. We also visit a local cashew nut factory and get a taste of locally brewed rum at a renowned rum distillery, which are both representative industries of Phuket, and visits to these two places give us a taste of the 'hidden' but fascinating activities that can be found beyond the island's stunning coastline and forested interior.
